

Books we use in JTR to teach the protected characteristics

These books are used in class & in assemblies to teach the protected characteristics & diversity.

FS1
Learning intention	To begin to learn that there are all sorts of families.	To begin to understand everyone is different and it is important to accept and love this.	To begin to explore families and same sex families.	To begin to understand pregnancy and expanding families.	To introduce to children everyone has different colour skin.	To introduce disability.	To begin to introduce diversity.	To begin to explore families and same sex families.
FS2
Learning intention	To learn about acceptance and difference.	To begin to learn about disability and how anyone can be anything if they just try.	To begin to explore different races and how different cultures live.	To learn that acceptance and tolerance helps us to happy.	To begin to learn about big emotions and place them when talking about difference in people.	To understand that you can love anyone and love can bring us together.
Year 1

Learning intention	To learn about strength in ourselves and being honest and true to ourselves.	To begin to learn about different races and cultures. To link to a traditional tale.	To open a discussion about sharing feelings and worries.	To empathise and begin to understand how it feels to be in someone else's world.	To accept people whatever differences to us they may have.	To understand disability & embrace it.
Year 2
Learning intention	To learn that race does not hold us back and determine where we go in life.	To learn that anyone can do anything and the colour of our skin is not important.	To teach acceptance and tolerance.	To learn that we can be anything in the world if we try hard.	To learn about the different protected characteristics and open discussions about them.	To teach children that we live in a diverse world and to accept others views and points of view.	To teach children that different people believe in different religions and acceptance & tolerance allows us to live harmoniously.
Assemblies
Learning intention	To understand diversity in families.	To accept people and families are different & begin to understand same sex families.	To understand people marry and there are different types of marriages.	To learn about disability and overcoming these to achieve.	To begin to challenge stereo types of children who do not identify with traditional roles.	To begin to introduce the idea that difference is good and to embrace our differences.	To celebrate disability and understand anyone can be anything.	To help children understand that each family is different & unique.

Assemblies

Learning intention

To teach children that no matter what your race, ability or family make up is everyone belongs.

To start conversations about race & anti-racism.

To show children there is a celebration in our world of difference in every living things.

To teach children about different types of families & the love within them all.